Billy Adams – Ray Burnell

Sept 8th - Oct 7th

Ceramicist Billy Adams's work is influenced by landscape settings, especially the wild, rugged beauty of Connemara and Donegal, and the dramatic West Wales coastline.

He incorporates geological elements, natural colours, as well as the marks of human activity on the landscape into his vessels.

He is interested in addressing the relationship we have with the landscape.

Landscape painter Ray Burnell's work is concerned with the links between landscape, language and history.

He is interested in creating oil and mixed media landscape and seascape paintings with atmosphere and depth to catch fleeting moments when a gleam of sun shines through the mist, or a crack of light breaks through the clouds onto rocks and water.
